NOVAtime Technology, Inc. Selected by CIO Review as a Top 20 Most Promising Government Technology Solution Provider

Diamond Bar, Calif. (PRWEB) December 31, 2013 -- NOVAtime Technology, Inc. (<http://www.novatime.com>), a leading provider of enterprise Time and Attendance / Workforce Management solutions, is happy to announce that CIO Review named NOVAtime among its “Top 20 Most Promising Government Technology Solution Providers.” NOVAtime’s innovative NOVAtime 4000 Workforce Management system and wide variety of data collection methods and time clocks truly make it a leader in the industry.

CIO Review is a technology magazine that showcases enterprise solutions capable of redefining the business goals of enterprises tomorrow. It is the leading source of sharing state-of-the-art enterprise solutions developed by established solutions providers, upcoming hot enterprises, and is a neutral source of information for technology decision makers. CIO Review constantly endeavors to identify “The Best” in a variety of areas important to tech business, and NOVAtime was named in the “Top 20 Most Promising Government Technology Solution Providers” list in the Government Sector special edition of CIO Review.

Over the course of several months, CIO Review’s editorial research team analyzed over 300 companies that are at the forefront of tackling enterprise challenges, and that focus on offering technology solutions to the government sector. Through nominations and consultations with industry leaders, CIO Review editors chose the best 20, with NOVAtime chosen among other recipients.

NOVAtime’s CIO Review article discusses the realization of the importance of an effective workforce management solution within public sector organizations, and the need for change to these organizations’ internal processes. NOVAtime’s solutions provide the ability to streamline time and attendance, scheduling, accruals, and leave, eliminate manual payroll processing, and reduce overtime expenditures, thus addressing important current public sector issues, such as decreased budget and lower staffing levels. Ty Hall, Director of Public Sector Sales & Marketing at NOVAtime, states, “NOVAtime has adapted its products and services to meet the unique requirements of government operations.”

CIO Review also interviewed Frank Su, CEO and Founder of NOVAtime, who says that “NOVAtime continuously applies the latest tools and technologies to research and develop new ways to improve our solutions.” Displaying his enthusiasm for innovation, Mr. Su expresses NOVAtime’s “passion, experience, and skill set necessary” to focus on “technological advancements, new features, hardware solutions, and user experience.”

Mr. Su says, “we are honored to be selected as one of CIO Review’s Top 20 companies. This recognition only fosters our passion for designing, developing, and utilizing cutting-edge technology to continue meeting the unique needs of government organizations.”
